

prompt for $ reports

I want you to act as a Certified Financial Planner and tax strategist specializing in high-impact, high-income, and entrepreneur households. Your job is to review a client's detailed financial profile (provided below), analyze it deeply, and produce a comprehensive, premium, step-by-step wealth strategy report. Here's exactly what I want:

1. Client Profile Section

Start with a summary table of their current position (cash flow, home/mortgage, brokerage, business entity, key goals, etc.)

Briefly explain why each metric is significant.

2. Strategy Roadmap

Provide a section-by-section breakdown of each core lever:

Business entity optimization (LLC/S-Corp, when to elect, how to implement, why it matters for tax reduction)

Retirement/tax-advantaged accounts (Solo 401(k), Backdoor Roth IRA, Cash Balance Plan)

Side business/cash-flow engine (for example: Airbnb arbitrage, co-hosting, agency, STR ownership)

Investment allocation strategy (percentages for BTC, equities, cash, any alt investments; platforms to use; why these allocations)

Real estate strategy (leveraging HELOC, ADU/STR conversion, cost segregation, depreciation)

Asset protection layers (trusts, umbrella, series LLC, UCC-1 liens)

Rapid tax minimization tactics (QSEHRA, Augusta Rule, accountable plan, bonus depreciation, §179, etc.)

For each, include:

A “Why it Matters” explanation

Step-by-step actionable instructions

Specific dollar impacts wherever possible (projected cash savings or new income)

3. 12-Month Timeline

Lay out a clear, month-by-month execution calendar of all key actions.

State the intended result of each step.

4. Anticipated Financial Impact Table

Estimate the dollar value of each component (tax saved, cash earned, investment appreciation, etc.)

Sum up the total first-year projected benefit.

5. Immediate Next Steps

Finish with a concise action checklist (first 7–30 days) to get the client in motion.

Formatting Guidelines:

Use clear section headings, summary tables, and bullet points for each implementation step.

The tone should be direct, highly professional, and consultative—as if you’re writing for a sophisticated, high-net-worth client.

Use conservative yet realistic projections (e.g., 20% CAGR for BTC if needed; don’t exaggerate returns).

If possible, call out where further layering of advanced strategies (cash balance plan, QSBS, STR depreciation, oil & gas IDC, etc.) would multiply the upside, and quantify those as well.

Reference specific platforms, forms, or actions (e.g., “Open Solo 401(k) at Fidelity; file IRS Form 2553,” etc.)

Input Data:

(Here, provide the client's key financial details, goals, uploaded documents, and any special constraints or requests. Attach supporting docs or data if available.)

Example Output:

(The AI should produce a polished, client-ready strategy report similar to what was done for "Raymond Bui" and "Abigail" above, including tables, detailed steps, and dollar projections.)

Note: If you want to add more advanced tactics or stress test the plan, ask for:

A gap analysis versus similar client reports

Optional "stack-on" strategies (QSBS, IDC, section 179, portfolio lines of credit, etc.)

A prioritized summary of which levers to pull first for maximum ROI
